

Workshop Status

Workshop status changes daily. In order to ascertain the current status of a course you are considering, you will need to be in the online registration option. The actual course status will display. You may cancel out the online registration before completion if you will be registering via FAX or hard copy. This is the single location where the current course status is displayed – it is linked directly to the registration database.

As of this writing, several courses have been relocated and reopened for registration. Please know that the sooner you register, the higher the likelihood that you will receive your first choice. If you are not completing online registration, the online list of courses will assist your decision process. Be sure to indicate 2nd and 3rd choices for non-online registrations.
