FEW selects its training workshops using the Office of Personnel Management Executive Core Qualifications (ECQs) that define the competencies needed to build a corporate culture that strives for results, serves customers and builds successful teams. The ECQs are required for entry into the Senior Executive Service and are used by many agencies in selection, performance management and leadership development for management and other positions. To accomplish this, FEW will offer training by highly-skilled experts in the following areas:

- ★ Executive Leadership
- ★ Project/Program Management
- ★ Administrative Professionals
- ★ Business Analysis
- ★ Human Resources
- ★ Science and Technology, and
- ★ Federal Women's Program

Have You Heard?

FEW hosted more than 2,600 federal employees from across the U.S. for NTP 2010 in New Orleans and offered 176 workshops, and we expect to top that in 2011 in Philadelphia.

FEW offers one, two and even three-day workshops with certificates of completion.

FEW raised $25,000 for two schools in New Orleans in 2010 and plans to match or exceed that figure for Breast Cancer Awareness in 2011.

FEW hosted 18 federal agencies for forums to provide updates on agency policies and issues to their employees, introduce new HQ staff, and meet employees from their field offices in New Orleans, and we expect even more in Philadelphia.

FEW hosted 95 Exhibitors as they showcased their products and services in 2010, and an even greater number is expected in 2011.

FEW is planning to look at its history through the eyes of its Past Presidents as we gather in this historical city.

FEW will hold its own "American Bandstand" as a welcome to the city where it all began.

Sights to Enjoy

After the Revolutionary War, the fledgling nation was in chaos and bordering on collapse. Each state had its own monetary system and trade laws. There was no centralized system of defense. Many were wary of a strong central government and debates were bitter, but the checks and balances provided by three branches of government alleviated concerns. In 1787 the U.S. Constitution was adopted in Philadelphia and our nation, as we know it today, was born. Here is just a small sampling of the historical sites and ways to see them.

Independence Hall—See the original ink well used to sign the Declaration of Independence, an original draft of the Constitution and George Washington's "rising sun" chair. Representatives from 12 states gathered to shape the U. S. Constitution and create one unified nation in Independence Hall.

Liberty Bell—Located a few steps from Independence Hall, the Liberty Bell has a new home. Throughout the Center, larger-than-life historic documents and graphic images explore the facts and the myths surrounding the bell. Created in the Whitechapel Foundry in London and sent to Independence Hall in 1753, it was 12' in diameter with a 44 lb. clapper. Unfortunately, the clapper cracked the bell on its first ring, but this enduring image has been used on everything from ice cream molds to wind chimes to the NTP 2011 logo.

Philly by Night Tour—See Penn's Landing, South Street, Independence Hall, Chinatown, Avenue of the Arts, Ben Franklin Parkway, Philadelphia Museum of Art and much more. Tours depart at 8:00 p.m. nightly from the Philadelphia Marriott Downtown. Reservations are recommended. Call 215-389-TOUR.

Phlash—No time for a tour? Take a quick inexpensive ride on Phlash with daily service every 12 minutes to many popular locations throughout the city.

Franklin Institute—Opened in 1824 to honor favorite son Benjamin Franklin, this hands-on science museum has become Pennsylvania's most visited museum.
