FEW hosted more than 2,600 federal employees from across the U.S. for NTP 2010 in New Orleans and offered 176 workshops, and we expect to top that in 2011 in Philadelphia.

FEW offers one, two and even three-day workshops with certificates of completion.

FEW raised $25,000 for two schools in New Orleans in 2010 and plans to match or exceed that figure for Breast Cancer Awareness in 2011.

FEW hosted 18 federal agency forums to provide updates on agency policies and issues to their employees, introduce new HQ staff, and meet employees from their field offices in New Orleans, and we expect even more in Philadelphia.

FEW hosted 95 Exhibitors as they showcased their products and services in 2010, and an even greater number is expected in 2011.

FEW is planning to look at its history through the eyes of its Past Presidents as we gather in this historical city.

FEW will hold its own "American Bandstand" as a welcome to the city where it all began.

Founded in 1968, Federally Employed Women is a private, non-profit membership organization working to end discrimination and advance career opportunities for women in government.

Why Attend NTP?

21st Century reality—Careers today require a great deal of education and training. After all, knowledge is placed at a high premium, and this is only going to become more evident as we move into the future.

- ★ Take advantage of courses that will improve your promotion potential. Become more marketable in your current career field or in a new career field.
- ★ Learn from dynamic instructors, using the most current information available. You will be re-energized and excited about taking on new challenges.
- ★ Discover a sense of empowerment, confidence and a new passion for who you are and what you do. You'll return to the workplace with a renewed sense of accomplishment.
- ★ Meet women and men from over 100 federal agencies as you network and learn.

Training

FEW selects its training workshops using the Office of Personnel Management Executive Core Qualifications (ECQs) that define the competencies needed to build a corporate culture that strives for results, serves customers and builds successful teams. The ECQs are required for entry into the Senior Executive Service and are used by many agencies in selection, performance management and leadership development for management and other positions. To accomplish this, FEW will offer training by highly-skilled experts in the following areas:

- ★ Executive Leadership
- ★ Project/Program Management
- ★ Administrative Professionals
- ★ Equal Employment Opportunity
- ★ Human Resources
- ★ Science and Technology
- ★ Federal Women's Program

Diversity Event Speaker

Laura Liswood

Secretary General,
Council of Women World Leaders
Senior Advisor, Goldman Sachs

A nationally recognized speaker, author, and advisor, Laura Liswood has contributed to leadership and diversity in the women's community for many years. Former commissioner of the City of Seattle Women's Commission, Liswood was the owner/publisher of Seattle Woman. In 2000, the Secretary of Defense appointed her to a three-year term of the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services (DACOWITS). After the events of September 11, 2001, Liswood became a reserve police officer in Washington, D.C. and is now a sergeant.

Her latest book, The Loudest Duck (Wiley and Sons), is a business guide that uses parables and anecdotes to examine the challenges to traditional workplace diversity efforts and provides innovative strategies to create truly effective workplaces for all.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

1992-1996 — Served as director of the Women's Leadership Project identifying global leadership contributions by women heads of state, 15 of whom she interviewed, culminating in her book and video documentary, Women World Leaders (1996 and 2007, Harper Collins).

1996 — Co-founded the Council of Women World Leaders, composed of women presidents, prime ministers, and heads of government, where she serves as Secretary General.

1997 — Co-founded The White House Project which was inspired by her work with women global leaders and is dedicated to electing a woman President in the United States.

2001 — Named Managing Director, Global Leadership and Diversity for Goldman Sachs working on issues of globalization and workforce diversity. She now serves as a Senior Advisor to the firm.

Degrees held — She holds a B.A. from California State University, San Diego and an M.B.A. from Harvard Business School. She holds a J.D. degree from the University of California, Davis, School of Law, and is admitted to practice law in California and Massachusetts.

Books — She is also the author of a book on service quality, Serving Them Right (Harper Business).
