

ADA Statement

Federally Employed Women (FEW) supports the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and complies with the requirements within. Qualified American Sign Language (ASL) sign language interpreters will be provided at a minimum during the Opening and Closing Plenary sessions. Additional interpreter services at breakout sessions and conference events will be provided, upon advance request of the attendees, when necessary to ensure effective communication. Other types of reasonable accommodation services will be provided, as available in the meeting locality, to support dietary, mobility, low vision, and other types of special needs. FEW will work with agencies to ensure that the event will be as supportive as possible for the attendees.

Conference attendees requiring auxiliary aids and services should indicate their specific needs on their registration form. A National Training Program staff person will contact the registrant to ensure that specifically-needed services are available. Pre-registration fees for persons with disabilities desiring to register for the conference are extended through May 31, 2011.
